After meeting with the CEO, the board chair reviews the evaluation with the board, including recommendations on the CEO's compensation, which the board then acts upon. The financial statements of the Organization have been prepared on the cash basis of accounting, modified to record assets or liabilities with respect to cash transactions and events that provide a benefit or result in an obligation that covers a period greater than the period in which the cash transaction or event occurred. This method of accounting represents a comprehensive basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("US GAAP"). This basis of accounting differs from US GAAP primarily because certain revenue and related assets (such as accounts receivable and revenue for billed or provided services not yet collected) have been recognized when received rather than when earned, and certain expenses and related liabilities (such as accounts payable and expenses for goods or services received but not yet paid) have been recognized when paid rather than when the obligations were incurred.
